Candidates Needed

Jule Churchill, chairman of the Nominations Committee, is urging GHI members to give serious consideration to running for office. There are four 2-year terms to be filled on the 9-member board. There are also three audit committee members to be elected for 1-year terms.

Biographies of prospective candidates must be handed in early Tuesday evening, May 16, if they are to be published in the News Review.

The printer would appreciate it if you could get them in a week earlier.

Nominations by petition will be accepted at the GHI administrative offices up to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, May 17. Names submitted after that date will not be in time to be placed on the official ballot.

Members can vote by proxy, but they must make their request in writing on official forms. The deadline for turning in proxy forms to the GHI offices is midnight, Thursday, May 18.

The board members whose terms expire this year are Steve Polaschick, Katherine Keene, James Smith, and Thomas White. The first three named have indicated their decision to run again for office. The other candidate to announce is Lekh Batra, 2-Q Plateau.

Present audit committee members are Alexander Barnes, James Foster, and Mabel Kandler.

Some Spaces Available At Testimonial Dinner

It's good news for persons who find at the last minute that they will be able to attend the Greenbelt News Review testimonial dinner. There are still a few reservations available. Please call GR 4-6060. Arrangements can also be made for transportation by calling that number.

The affair, being held to honor the newspaper's attorney, Roger A. Clark, for his successful defense of the News Review in a libel action, will see in attendance several candidates for Congress, representatives to the State legislature, and several members of the Prince Georges County Council and the Greenbelt City Council.

The affair will be held at the University of Maryland Center of Adult Education on Saturday, April 29, starting at 5:30 p.m.

(No tickets for the dinner have been issued or are necessary for those who have made reservations).

CITY NOTES

The city's paper drive on May 21 netted 15 and a half tons, up almost six tons over the previous week's accumulation. The increase was attributed to less threatening weather.

Summer staff for the Public Works and Recreation departments have been hired. Anticipating the vacation season, the special details crew of the Public Works staff has drained and begun cleaning the swimming pool.

Traffic lights for the intersection of Greenbelt Rd. and Cherrywood Lane have been installed but are not yet operational. The city has received no information from the State Highway Administration concerning a proposed date for use of the light; however, the city staff has installed traffic directional arrows in preparation for the operation of the light.

Forty tons of asphalt were used to repair the driveway leading to the Little League field. The Public Works crew spent two days on the job.

Running an underground cable to power the school flashing signal for the North End School required the digging of a trench 100 feet long.

One police car was disposed of recently at an auction sale.

On rainy days some of the crew have been constructing a trailer to be used by the Parks crew. A pickup body from which the replacement cab for the old ladder truck was taken forms the base for the trailer.

OUTDOOR FOLKSING

If the weatherman cooperates, the Folksing at the Greenbelt Library on Tuesday, May 9, will take place on the lawn in front of the building. Bring your blankets or use our cushions, but come one and all to the "Spring Thing." Music starts at 7:30 p.m. and will move inside when it gets dark; singers, in groups or alone, guitars, banjos or any exotic strangers are welcome.

For information, call Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, 345-5800.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

The League of Women Voters of Prince Georges County and the County Memorial Library system are co-sponsoring meetings to which the public is invited to meet candidates of their Congressional Districts of Prince Georges County. On Thursday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. the meeting for the 5th District will be held at Greenbelt Branch Library, 11 Crescent Rd.

Landfill, Trash Collection, Recycling Costs Uncertain

by Al Skolnik

The waste collection and recycling program has some of the greatest uncertainties in the 1972-73 municipal budget; so appeared to be the consensus of city officials reviewing the public works department budget on Monday night, April 24.

The first uncertainty is the sanitary landfill. The city hopes that the present landfill arrangement with College Park will last through the 1973 fiscal year. This has been a fortunate arrangement, according to city manager James Giese, because it has enabled the city to keep its disposal costs at about the same level as when the city operated its own landfill. However, the College Park landfill has a short life expectancy.

Time Extension Requested On SOCC Greenbriar Suit

The suit filed by the Save Our Community Committee to have the Greenbriar special exceptions voided has now entered the sparring stage. Both Prince Georges County and the Greenbriar developer (Alan Kay and associates) have asked for an extension of time to reply to the petition of SOCC. At the same time, the county and Kay are asking that the court set aside an order issued on March 29 by Judge Perry G. Bowen which had granted SOCC, through its representative Thomas X. White, leave to file an amended petition for review and for summary judgment.

SOCC is contending that the county council, sitting as the district council, erred in permitting the Greenbriar project to construct 2- and 3-bedroom apartments in excess of the number allowed by the zoning ordinance, because of certain constitutional and procedural errors and because the council failed to determine that adequate sewage facilities would be available. SOCC is also contending that the council disregarded the fact that there would be a resultant increase in traffic volume.

In the meantime, there are signs that the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission is getting ready to make a decision on the application for a building permit filed by the developer. The 1193-unit apartment project scheduled for the Smith-Ewing tract, however, has yet to get the approval of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission because of its lack of sewage facilities.

County Budget Proposal

Prince Georges County Executive William W. Gullett has proposed a fiscal 1973 budget of $279.4 million for Maryland's largest county.

Gullett's spending plan, presented to the County Council April 17 in Upper Marlboro, would require no increase in the property tax, even though the total figure represents a 7.8 percent increase over 1972's $259.2 million level. The current tax rate is $3.57 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The County Council has slated hearings on the spending plans for May 11 in the County Council Hearing Room in Upper Marlboro at 10 a.m. and again on May 25 at Northwestern High School in Hyattsville at 7:30 p.m.

If the city is therefore forced to make other landfill arrangements, disposal costs are expected to rise, since longer haul distances and higher disposal charges can be anticipated.

As the result of the landfill arrangement and an improved labor situation which has reduced absenteeism and turnover, Giese told council that only a mild increase in refuse collection rates would be needed. He proposed that the basic collection rate be increased by 25 cents a month to $3.50 and that all other rates be increased proportionately.

Change Collection Procedures?

Giese held out hopes that the rate increase could be avoided if the collection service were modified to reduce the number of collections to twice a week. This could be done, Giese said, if homeowners were required to separate newspapers and magazines from other household trash. The newspapers and magazines, as at present, would be picked up once a week. The revenue acquired from selling the newspapers would be applied against the waste collection expenses.

However, an uncertain element here is that the paper market is not too stable and that while the price paid for paper has risen, too many salvage operations could glut the market and cause the price to drop.

The city also saw problems in picking up the paper. While the least costly collection procedure is to leave the papers at curb side, this results in unsightly roadsides and increased litter resulting from loose papers blowing.

An alternative is to have the papers bundled and placed next to the trash can. To cover the whole town, however, would require two days of collection. The collection of paper on a compulsory basis might also overtax the present equipment. There would also be special problems, according to Giese, relating to the collection from apartments with central collection points and from commercial accounts.

Giese also foresaw problems for the homeowner, such as finding a place to store the papers. With fewer regular collections, he may need extra containers to store the household trash. Also he will have to live with smelly garbage for an extra day or two.

In reply to this objection, Evelyn Feller suggested that the two collections a week be extended to three during the summer months.

Recycling Center

A new element in the 1972 budget is a proposal for establishment of a waste recycling center to be located near the Municipal Service Building. Since there is no satisfactory experience upon which to base this budget, Giese cautioned that his figures are rough.

For the first year, costs can be broken down into two parts. The first part consists of one-time initial capital outlay costs involving the construction of the center, access road, fencing, bins, tool and work shed, electric line, and oil storage tanks. These costs, including labor, are estimated at $6,600.

The second part is the continuing operating costs, which are estimated at $8,600 per year. These are mainly part-time labor costs but also include the renting of equipment.

Among the items that would be recycled are glass, used oil, newspapers, tin cans, and old clothes.

Giese was hopeful that revenues would cover the operating costs of the city's recycling activities, but acknowledged that there were many uncertain items. He noted that if paper collection is made a part of the city's regular collection service, as described above, less moneys will be realized to support the operation of the recycling center.

Next Budget Hearing

The next budget to be reviewed is that of the Recreation Department on Tuesday, May 2.

Getting Involved

To the Editor:

Some of us remember a grim story of a few years ago. It seems that one night, in one of the large cities of the East Coast, a girl was being murdered just outside an apartment building. She called out for help, but no one came. Her attacker stabbed her into silence. As he was leaving, she roused enough to call out again. He returned to make sure of the job. Once more, as he was taking his leave, she managed to cry out for help. Once more, he returned for more stabbing. She didn't further disturb the good residents of the apartment building.

Now we may think it would have been nice and brotherly if someone had come charging out of his apartment with a chair or golf club to beat off her attacker. But, then, that would have meant getting involved, like we are in Vietnam. No, we can see now that it was ever so much nicer to stay in the apartment and do nothing.

Three of our presidents have assured us that the South Vietnamese needed and wanted our help. Were these men liars? Or fools?

There's a lot of haggling about whether Vietnam is one country or two. It's for sure that there are two governments, and that the army of North Vietnam is not in South Vietnam at the behest of the government, or the people, of South Vietnam. In fact, if one is to believe what the press of a few decades ago was putting out, quite a number of people left the North because they didn't want to live under Communism; but few indeed left the South to go north. Something like this happened in Germany before the Berlin Wall was built to keep the East Germans home so they could enjoy the glories of Communism.

I'm sure most all Americans are sick and tired of the war and our involvement in it. The difference is, some of us still feel that, in Asia as in America, the quality as well as the length of life is important. Some of us still feel that it isn't at all outrageous for a Vietnamese as well as an American to say in his heart, "Give me liberty or give me death," and that perhaps it isn't totally wicked for us to give somewhat more than lip service to the idea that the ones to determine the course for South Vietnam are the people of South Vietnam; not the armies of North Vietnam. We're all tired of the war. The difference is, some of us still think it was the right thing for us to come charging out of the apartment with a seven-iron to help the girl stay alive. I hope she makes it.

Townhouse Equity Correction

To the Editor:

I wish to correct the News Review report of my comments at the GHI information meeting Monday, the 10th.

Under the Townhouse contract, our interest in equity is split two ways: between the owner/member and the Corporation. The bank holds most of the owner/member's share in mortgage; the Corporation's share is an imaginary amount based on land and enterprise. I say "based on": no cash investment is accurately reflected in either instance.

The resale formula requires, upon sale (to the Corporation), a payment to the Corporation by the seller (owner/member) of "interest" due on the Corporation's equity share. This "interest" due builds up monthly.

What I actually said (or meant to say?) is: that in this year, my third in this unit, I will already owe enough "interest" to cover a three percent working capital assessment on my purchase price without any additional assessment. The "interest" due also effectively cancels out any paid-in capital gain I may enjoy on my mortgage for a period of years. I said four, I should have said seven. Out of thirty, and on twenty thousand, plus. My fellow Townhouse purchasers seem to be happy with this arrangement.

I made some remarks, too, speculating that the Corporation realizes the only profit from resale of the Townhouses. It should be understood that I will gladly apologize in public if this proves not to be so. It won't.

The rest of you in GHI live in units that are already aging. The repairs and renovations you'll need promise rough going for the next few decades. Even with good management, it will take the wholehearted combined financial strength of all of us, pulling together, to see you safely through them. You're already in debt for "capital improvements," you know.

Now, the townhouses are already bound up in exorbitant maintenance costs, one way or another, after only two years. With the Corporation floating add-on mortgages for us, what good will our financial backing be for you? You'd be as well off with us renting. Elsewhere. Sorry. So would we.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

PRECEDENT-SETTING LEGAL SUIT FILED BY COUNTY AGENCIES

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Prince George's County Council, sitting as the District Council filed a precedent setting law suit against the General Services Administration and the Department of the Treasury for their alleged violation of the National Environmental Policy Act and Executive Order 1512 which requires that consideration be given to state and local master plans in the location of federal facilities.

Originated by the Bi-County suburban Maryland Park and Planning Commission, the law suit alleges that the two federal agencies did not consider the impact that the Law Enforcement Training Center, proposed for the Beltsville area of Prince George's, will have on the environmental balance of the surrounding parkland, open space, and the entire region.

The site in question is comprised of approximately 11,137 acres of federally-owned property in Beltsville, known locally as the National Agricultural Research Center. Since 1947, the property has been used by the Department of Agriculture for conducting research on various projects relating to agriculture and animal husbandry.

In 1968, a Secret Service Training Center was constructed on 62.5 acres of the property. This Center was designed to provide a facility for the instruction of Secret Service and other law enforcement agents of the U.S. Treasury Department.

Shortly thereafter, it was proposed that the Secret Service Training Center be expanded to include a Consolidated Enforcement Training Center for all federal law enforcement personnel with the exception of the FBI. This proposal considered the use of 500 acres of the property.

In order to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the General Services Administration filed an Environmental Impact Statement last May. A requirement of the Environmental Act states that alternatives to a proposal must be considered. In the opinion of the Park and Planning Commission and the Prince George's District Council, these alternatives were not stated.

Last June, Congress appropriated $21 million dollars for the expansion of the Training Center to which the local community as well as County and State officials stated their strong opposition.

The Park and Planning Commission joined the opposition and disapproved the proposal based on the adverse environmental and planning considerations.

In July, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission suspended their conditional authorization for a sewer connection and thus denied the Training Center its public sewer capacity.

The law suit asks that any further expansion of the Center be restricted until all adverse environmental factors have been considered and minimized.

Rabies Vaccination

The annual rabies vaccination program for dogs will be conducted in May. The hours for the clinics are 6 to 8 p.m. for those held during the week; the weekend (Saturday and Sunday) clinic hours are from 2 to 4 p.m.

In Greenbelt the clinic will be open at Center Elementary School, 15 Crescent Rd. on Thursday, May 18 and at Greenbelt Junior High School, Greenbelt Rd. and Kenilworth Avenue, on Sunday, May 21.

Circuit Court Upholds Cluster Regulation

The cluster subdivision regulation for Prince George's County received a legal boost when Circuit Court Judge William H. McCullough declared that the regulation is a valid ordinance.

The case was brought to court by the M&B Construction Corporation, who questioned the right of the Prince Georges' County Government to refuse to grant a building permit for Planning Board approved cluster subdivision. In January, the Prince George's County Planning Board members of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission voted to intervene as a "friend of the Court" in the declaratory judgement suit.

Judge McCullough found that granting requests for cluster development was an administrative act and not one of zoning and, therefore, declared that the M&B Construction Corporation was entitled to the building permit.

As a result of the questioning of the impact of the cluster ordinance, last January the Planning Board initiated a 120 day moratorium on the receipt and processing of cluster subdivision applications. This was done at the request of County Executive William Gullett.

Upon hearing the news that cluster regulation was declared valid, the Planning Board members agreed that the decision represents a major move forward for planning in Prince George's County.

"Now we must move on with the business of trying to provide good planning," stated Commissioner Louis J. DiTrani. "We should look forward to removing the 120 day cluster moratorium," he continued. Commissioner F. Richard Malzone emphasized the impact that the cluster regulation has for preserving our natural environment.

All the Commissioners agreed that prior to removing the 120 day moratorium which will expire automatically at the end of April, certain proposed amendments to the cluster regulation should be reviewed and approved by the Planning Board and District Council.

County Zoning Bills

Innovations in planning Prince Georges future were incorporated in several bills introduced before the County Council on April 4.

Legislation to allow sale as well as rental in areas zoned R-30 (multiple-family, low-density residential) was proposed by Council Chairman Winfield M. Kelly, and Councilman Francis W. White.

The measure would allow construction of only 10 saleable units including townhouses per acre. The R-30 zone is presently used primarily for garden apartments.

A bill was introduced that would require a two-thirds vote of the full Council to grant a zoning map amendment or a special exception on land within a mile of an incorporated municipality if the town opposes the action.

Councilmen Francis B. Francois, John J. Garrity, White, and Vice Chairman John B. Burcham, sponsored the legislation.

The Police Blotter

On April 19 at 2 a.m. the High's store was entered by breaking through the door. A citizen heard the smashing glass and alerted the police. Officer Justin responded, and apprehended a local male resident near the underpass. Approximately $92 was recovered in the leaves. The young man was charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and was incarcerated in default of bond.

Criminal justice students from Montgomery College will be studying the operations of the Greenbelt Police Department, selected by the professor as a model department, during April and May.

The police also hosted all of the students from the Catherine T. Reed Elementary School, who received a fingerprint card as a gift.

Chief William Lane was invited to the governor's commission in Cockeysville to discuss the training needs for the police in Prince Georges County. He also wishes to comment that no member of the Greenbelt police department belongs to the Municipal Police Association of Prince Georges County or any other organization which solicits funds from the public. This is in response to a recent article in the Washington Post which questioned the advisability of the police asking for money and pondered on what the association did with the remaining funds collected after their year book was published.

A 16-year-old College Park boy was arrested after stealing a $399 bronze lion statue from Sumie's in Beltway Plaza. He is awaiting Juvenile Court action.

Anti-Chickenpox Serum Bank Aids Children

A new program to establish an anti-chickenpox serum bank has been announced by Maryland Health and Mental Hygiene Secretary, Dr. Neil Solomon. He said it will be a model after which similar programs in other states will be patterned.

"Chickenpox can be deadly for children who have to take certain drugs to combat arthritis, kidney disease, leukemia and other forms of cancer," the Secretary said. "These drugs produce a side effect which lowers the body's natural defenses against infection," he continued, "and under these conditions, exposure to another child who has chickenpox can be very dangerous."

Dr. Solomon said the project, which is being jointly sponsored by the Division of Communicable Diseases of the Department's Preventive Medicine Administration, the Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland, and Maryland General hospitals, the National Cancer Institute, and the Center for Disease Control, Atlanta, Georgia, is aimed at providing a stockpile of the serum to be used when children with chronic diseases are exposed to chickenpox.

On a routine basis, all adults who have either chickenpox or shingles will be contacted and asked to donate some of their blood, for which they will be paid $25.00.

Any adult who has recently had chickenpox or shingles and wishes to donate blood, should contact his family or clinic physician, who will notify Dr. Stafford.

Zoning Review Continues Apace

Members of the Prince George's County Council and the County Planning Board and staff met last month formally for the first time to discuss what County Council Chairman, Winfield Kelly, has called one of the most important items that the Council might take up in their administration, the County Council Resolution 57.

The Resolution which was introduced to the County Council by Councilmen Francis Francois and Royal Hart last August, calls for a review and analysis of zoning over the total 488 square miles of Prince George's County. This review is to be taken in light of fiscal and economic impact, comprehensive planning principles and staging and development in accordance with the County's ability to provide services.

This first meeting regarding the Resolution was for discussion of the Planning Board's work program and cost estimates necessary to expedite the requests made by the resolution.

As a result of the joint meeting and discussion the County Council has directed the Planning Board to proceed with a work program that will reflect the staff work to be involved.

The basis for this far reaching Resolution is that there are indications that many zoning actions in the past were premature to the orderly development of Prince George's County and the ability for the County to provide the needed public services.

The Resolution calls for the County, through the efforts of the Prince George's Planning Board of The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, to review and initiate rezoning to bring about a balance between the County's fiscal ability to respond to zoning, the need for zoning and existing zoning.

As a result, once the work is completed, there will be a basis for recommending zoning revisions and for instituting a new set of zoning procedures. Further, the work will provide a way to give a comprehensive evaluation of future zoning proposals instituted by private developers. A major element of the project is a land use and zoning inventory which is being undertaken by the Commission's staff in Prince George's County in conjunction with the tax assessor's office.

Since last May, a staff of eight employees have worked full time to compile a data bank of information which registers every one of the more than 160 thousand parcels of land in the County into the appropriate land use and zoning categories. It is expected that the work of gathering the information will be completed by July. At that time, the staff, is slated to keynote a map which will visually indicate the information.

Seeks Tax Break For Municipalities

Prince George's Councilman Francis W. White, Chairman of the Fiscal Operations Committee presented to the county council on March 7 a Municipal Tax Differential Bill. This bill, if passed, would provide every municipal resident in the county a tax break for every service his municipality provides that would otherwise be provided by the county.

Councilman White in presenting the bill emphasized that, "Municipal residents must not be forced to make double payment for a service that all citizens in the County are entitled to." The rate of tax differential would be determined by a simple formula included by White in the bill. First, municipal officials will provide the county government with a list of services that they supply that the county would otherwise supply. The county would then make a determination on how much the county saved by the municipalities providing these services. The county will subtract from that figure all revenue, State and Federal, that the municipality receives for those services which will be the total tax credit. This tax credit will be divided by the tax base of the municipality and expressed in terms of cents per hundred dollars.

TIME FOR APPLICATIONS TO SERVICE ACADEMIES

Now is a good time for high school students to apply for admission to the U.S. service academies in 1973, according to Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.)

The Senator is accepting applications until September 30 and will be making nominations to the Air Force, Naval, and Merchant Marine Academies. He will not be able to make nominations for the Military Academy this year.

Nominees will be selected on a competitive basis. All applicants must take the Civil Service aptitude and achievement examination, a physical examination and college entrance examinations. These are followed by interviews with the Senator's Academy Review Board, composed of Maryland civic and educational leaders.

Further information may be obtained by writing Senator Beall at 404 Old Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

First Aid for Poisons

If someone swallows a dangerous or unknown product, what do you do?

The Prince George's County Health Department warns that poisoning emergencies must be treated immediately and individually.

If you suspect someone has taken any type of poison, first find the container and learn the correct antidotal procedure. It is vital to follow directions explicitly because treatments vary.

Never induce vomiting if the swallowed substance is acidic, corrosive or a petroleum distillate product.

If the victim is unconscious or convulsing, do not induce vomiting or force fluids despite directions.

If the person has vomited, save portions of the vomitus containing the ingested substance.

The agency or medical personnel treating the poisoned victim will want to examine the vomitus, the container and its label and the poisonous substance or plant before proceeding with treatment. Be sure to take these items with the patient.

Today many poisonings can be treated at home with instructions from trained specialists on 24 hour duty at the Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital, in D.C. This number is 835-4080. Suburban Hospital's emergency room (530-3880) will also give advice over the telephone. If they feel further treatment is required, they will refer callers to their private physicians or the nearest emergency room.

TREE PLANTING PROJECT FOR THIRD GRADERS

Third grade students throughout Maryland had the opportunity to learn about tree growth, first hand, with their participation in the 100th anniversary of Arbor Day this year, according to William A. Parr, Acting Director of the Department of Forests and Parks.

The Department made available seed packets and "starter cubes" to each child in the classroom in March. The program undertaken with the cooperation of the State Department of Education.

The potential of the project was an enrichment of the Free State's tree resources by 66,000, since there are that many students enrolled in the third grade of Maryland's elementary schools.

Seeds of the Callery Pear were chosen by the Department for distribution, since this species thrives well in the Maryland environment, and initial growth occurs quickly enough to maintain the continued interest of the young tree enthusiasts. Mature pear trees provide excellent esthetic and shade values.

The "starter cubes" chosen by the Department for the project were equipped with synthetic soil, requiring only suitable watering to bring about early sprouting of the tree. Instruction manuals which afford a unique environmental learning experience as well as avoidance of disappointing results, were also furnished to all third grade teachers.

Book Discussion

The Greenbelt Library will present a Book Discussion program for adults on May 23 at 7:30 p.m. Books of fiction to be discussed include: Diary of a Mad Housewife by Sue Kaufman; Such Good Friends by Lois Gold; and Up the Sandbox by Anne Roiphe. They will be available at the library. In order to participate, registration is required in person or by phone after May 1.

For additional information call Mrs. Shirley Bean, adult services librarian, at 345-5800.

"Camporama" - April 29-30 At Sweetgum Picnic Area

Greenbelt Park will sponsor its third annual Camporama on April 29 and 30. The public is invited to view the exhibits from 10 a.m. till 6 p.m. each day. The Camporama will include camping and hiking equipment (from tents to small travel trailers), methods of camping, safety, and places to camp within weekend reach of Washington, D.C., and surrounding areas.

The event will be held in the Sweetgum Picnic area. For further information call 426-6816.

Legislation To Insure Compliance with Codes

The "quality" of daily living in Prince George's County was the theme of several bills on housing presented March 21 to the County Council. The proposals were referred to Council committees for study.

At-Large Councilmen Gladys Noon Spellman, and Francis B. Francois, unveiled new legislation to require conformance to both the county building and housing codes built in the county. An occupancy permit, stating that the dwelling passed inspection, would be required before the new house could be occupied.

The two Councilmen who sponsored the county's 1970 apartment licensing law, said that after enactment of the apartment law, complaints about structural defects in new apartments "practically ceased." Francois and Spellman said they hoped for similar results if the housing occupancy permit bill is passed.

Single-family houses must presently comply with the county building code, but are not inspected for compliance with requirements of the housing code.

Francois and Spellman also presented another bill to require the licensing and bonding of all home building contractors. A board of registration would be established to supervise the licensing and to revoke a contractor's license for fraud, deliberate violation of the building code or deviation from set plans without the homeowners approval.

A builder would be compelled to place a $2,000 bond for every residence under construction up to a maximum of $50,000 assuring homeowners that work necessary to meet code standards would be done.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Because over the years his parents have invested in U.S. Savings Bonds—in his name, for his future—by participating in the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

He probably doesn't even know. And right now, he couldn't care less. But when he's older, that money can be used for a lot of things—a car, a college education, or even a new home.

The Payroll Savings Plan is an easy way to save money for you and every member of your family. When you join, an amount you designate will be automatically laid aside from your paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's a painless way to save.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, $5\frac{1}{2}\%$ when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra $\frac{1}{2}\%$, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and make your son the richest kid on the block.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Summer Youth Programs

Several summer employment programs designated especially for youth will be in effect this summer in Maryland, according to Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr., and Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

Three programs will be administered directly by the Maryland State Employment Agency. The Neighborhood Youth Corps will employ 9,457 Maryland youths in community service activities. The Youth Summer Placement Program will place boys and girls in local private industry for the summer, and the National Alliance of Businessmen has made available 9,300 jobs in Maryland and D. C. in private businesses.

Those interested in employment in these programs should inquire at the state employment office.

Also, the Civil Service Commission will administer the Federal Summer Employment Program which selects students on the basis of competitive examinations. Examinations have been given and soon 63,000 youths nationwide will be chosen for GS 1-4 positions with the federal government.

Other job opportunities will be available for young people in the Youth Conservation Corps, which will employ about 3,000 youths to work on federal park lands around the country.

Forty of these summer employees are to be hired at Catocin National Park near Thurmont, the senators said. Information on employment at national parks can be obtained from either the Department of Interior or Department of Agriculture, they pointed out.

Senator Beall said he was pleased to see these programs in effect as they not only afford young people the opportunity to supplement their incomes but also provide a valuable service to the communities. For further information call 202-225-4524.

Traffic Tips

See your way through traffic by following the three "C's" of good driving—caution, courtesy, and common sense. Caution is needed because of the dangers in heavy traffic, courtesy makes driving more pleasant for all, and common sense is indispensable to safe driving.

Bad weather makes for hazardous driving, but it also makes for hazardous walking in traffic. Drivers need to be especially alert for pedestrians with heads down, umbrellas in front and other vision-blocking tactics used to ward off bad weather.

If you play games with Mother Nature when you're driving, you are bound to lose. For example, you must slow down before entering a curve, not in it, or centrifugal force may throw you off the road. Mother Nature's law must be respected.

On long trips:

Stop frequently (at least every two hours), well off the road, get out of the car and stretch and walk.

Take something along to keep the children quietly occupied.

Do not plan to travel too far in one day.

Be predictable in your driving. Don't try to surprise other drivers. Always signal before stopping, turning or changing lanes, then make your move as signaled with no surprises.

For the past 41 years, Pepco was at 10th and E, N.W. And although we grew a lot, the building didn't.

So now we've moved into larger quarters at 1900 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W. A new building called the "Thomas Edison Building."

One thing you'll appreciate about the move is that effective April 24, it will be much easier to reach us by phone. Our new Centrex system allows you to dial individuals or departments directly, without going through our switchboard.

Starting April 26, our new business office will be open for payment of bills. If you're accustomed to paying them in person at 10th and E, you may continue; we're keeping a small staff there for your convenience. However, we've discontinued the after-hours depository box at 10th and E, and installed one at 1900 Pennsylvania Avenue.
